DRAFT - Angel's Mind : Prelude
(Part 0.5)

Hypno, MDom, MF, Dildo Stretching Training

Angel's hypnosis plan was the result of numerous considerations. The first of these was establishing a set of balancing counterpoints that would renew her discipline for maintaining her physical and mental state. Self hypnosis is a simple and structured manner for providing room for restoration and re-enforcement. But Angel wanted more than just that.

Angel wanted to live up to her commitments. Tom had asked her to set her goals and she had. First and foremost, her vagina was to be permanently opened - stretched and developed to accommodate the largest toys her frame could support. With hypnosis she wanted to achieve both the drive and motivation as well as realize and constantly enjoy the benefits. Turning her vagina into a gaping cunt - so open she was always aware of the sensitivity and exposure of her inner labia as well as the manner in which air easily entered and tickled her vaginal walls giving a chilling sensation from her permanent state of moistness - was just the start. She wanted the prominent visibility of her inner labia as well, their natural disposition changed from somewhat visible due to her large toy training and play to a state where they were always exposed and protruding with a constant feedback of teasing and taunting sensation to her body and brain. Tom then asked for her commitment to the same in the back, her anus which typically only accommodated smaller toys up to two inches wide, should be developed to its fullest as well. So Angel wanted the hypnosis to address both the potential discomfort and awkwardness of having her ass thoroughly and regularly plundered - not removing all sensation but limiting the pain and layering over top of the strong sensations both a driving need to play with and stretch her ass, and a deep seated orgasmic enjoyment of thick and deep anal penetration. Tom likened that into turning her anus and rectum into as sensitive and pleasurable a medium as her vagina - and while it might never accommodate toys as large, it certainly could be developed further.

In exchange Tom generously offered to mark her body permanently with tattoos. One on either side of her vagina, located high enough up on her pubis to be visible in any image or view of her cunt either gaping open or stretched to its limits by objects of significant girth. Another she might earn should she invest herself and dedicate the time to develop her ass in the same fashion.

At any rate this was simply the beginning of Angel's ideas on her body's sexual development. She looked forward to also developing her nipples - seeking to bring them to a state of constant cherry like arousal and plumpness. Tom looked forward to developing her increasingly exposed clitoris as well. And with that Tom also sought an attitude of eagerness as well as self-motivation. Tom didn't want to have to enforce a routine on Angel for her training, rather he felt she would and could experience the drive and live up to it enjoyably without coercion.

To this end Angel and Tom discussed hypnosis. This was not a case of simply applying hypnosis to see what could be done. Their mutual goal was to make these revisions and updates permanent - with repeated induction and commands used to guarantee long lasting success. Angel, with her petite body and conservative fashionable attire, would inwardly be under constant stimulation with or without any external device. This would in turn feed her desire to both satisfy her appetite and drive additional stimulation.

This constant state of arousal could be credited with much more satisfaction mentally with Angel's environment - indeed even while performing household chores or managing her co-workers, Angel would be in the glow of endorphins and body chemistry from her body's state of stimulation. In turn, physically Angel would become much more active and aggressive pursuing a routine of penetration and stretching. Tom outlined plans for customized toys, akin to saddles, that would provide the means to maximize stretching top to bottom and side to side. He also provided latex and vinyl and rubber toys of a variety of shapes and sizes - none particularly small though - for Angel to master with her cunt and ass.

In response to Angel's concern about the side effects of constant openness, especially the inevitable saturation of any underclothing that might become inappropriate at the workplace, Tom ordered the first pairs of latex briefs for Angel to wear. Thongs would be something to get in the future since it would have to be determined how effective a thong could be. Even now Angel's inner labia pushed out along the sides of a thong if she had recently played with toys. One of the briefs was plain, the other two had vaginal and anal dildos embedded in the panty. These were small, although the inflatable set could be made reasonably large. It was Tom's intent to transition Angel to rubberized or latex briefs and specialty cut underwear over time, so her moisture was kept against her lips while also providing smooth stimulation with every motion of her lower body.

Tom reviewed all these requirements and then structured an initial hypnotic session based on a cohesive and mutual benefit premise. This was introduced slowly to begin to feel out induction techniques and further development of commands. With only a handful of sessions it appeared to be achieving minor goals. Angel's dietary and exercise activities certainly began to stabilize - and her awareness of her vagina and sensitivity and enjoyment of her anus increased. But her sessions with stretching activities were not occurring on the frequency necessary to bring her to the point of fully taking advantage of her existing toys.

So Tom began work on two other session scripts. One, while not being authoritative, focused on Angel's commitments and her obligations to fulfil them. It did lay down the activities she must be doing and she will do to achieve her goals and meet her own requirements as satisfy Tom. The third was a collection of transient moments - memories, if you will, being embedded to seed both the body's natural awareness and encourage further activities in the same vein.

This second script was going to be the driving engine of Angel's transformation. While the first script did an excellent job initiating certain levels of change and awareness - it was not strong enough to induce motivation. The second script would do more than just induce Angel's compulsion to constantly penetrate herself and stretch herself to her limits. It would also build up a set of new core values which she would judge herself by. For example, Angel knew she liked her body to be responsive and open - but she felt some inhibitions about being too much so.

Tom intended to revise that to push Angel toward feeling dissatisfied if she didn't feel at least open, as well as add some behaviours that would amount to her regularly checking under appropriate circumstances. Likewise, Angel might look at her body and occasionally allow Tom to photograph it, but by and large she shied away from demonstrating her talents. Tom intended to use the second script to instil a need for validation - including photographs, web cam captures, and home movies. Tom intended to finance this lifestyle that might lead to Angel working from home by having her make movies each week with a variety of toys, her own fists, and other inanimate objects - all thoroughly penetrating and demonstrating her now open state.

Angel still had some basic human objections. She didn't want to be valued just for her physical attributes. But to achieve these goals, Tom calculated in the level of compulsion sufficient enough to leave Angel options, but still drive her to stay the course.
